17 Firdausi: Shāh-nāmah. A Persian MS. written in Indian Nasta'liq within gold and coloured rules on 611 leaves with illuminated double pages to each of the nine books into which the work is divided; the captions in white on gold panels with coloured flowers, and the columns divided by bars of pink splashed. There are thirty-six miniatures, of which some may be thought to be incorrectly identified, as the subjects do not conform in sequence to the test, as for instance:—

Rustam's death, figured on Fol. 191, is followed much later by some of his exploits, even down to Fol. 433. The task of identification has thus been rendered very difficult and the following suggestions are given with full recognition of possible error:—

- Fol. 4. Hūsheng killing demons.
- Fol. 32. Tahūmers braining the demon Ghū.
- Fol. 39. Jamshīd ordering a demon to build for him a palace.
- Fol. 45. Ferîdūn watching that Zöhak is securely immured in a cave prison.
